GRAFT IS CHARGED.

Venezuela Officials Attacked.

Assert That the Government Seized Property and Made Crooked Laws.

Admits Payment of Big Sum of Money to Leader of The Revolution.

Company Declares It Was Strictly Neutral During the Trouble.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—The Venezuelan government deliberately attempted to extort from the company the sum of $400,000 in a statement given out tonight by the New York and Bermudez Asphalt Company in reference to the writ brought by the Venezuelan government for $11,000,000 damages for aiding the Matos rebellion.

The means used by these officials, according to the allegation, included blackmail, confiscation of the company's property, the manufacture of false testimony and the making of decrees without regard to law.

In reference to the $130,000 paid the revolutionary leader, Matos, the statement says: "The money was paid for the protection of the company's property during the continuance of the revolution and for the protection of its just rights thereafter in case the revolution succeeded and without any understanding or obligation with respect to its use. During the entire continuance of the revolution the company, and so far as it is advised, all its agents in Venezuela, as they are instructed to do, maintained absolute neutrality."

"TAINTED MONEY" QUESTION OFF.

SO THINKS DR. GLADDEN OF THE CONGREGATIONALISTS.

Says There is No Diversity of Opinions Respecting the Principles Which Should Guide Us in This Our Work of the Church Resolution at Seattle.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Dr. Washington Gladden, moderator of the Congregational church of the United States, announced tonight that the controversy over "tainted money" seems to have been settled so far as the Congregational church is concerned.

In an address upon the work of the Congregational church, Dr. Gladden said:

"There is no longer any diversity of opinion among us respecting the principles which should guide us in our work. You are familiar with the resolution which I offered at Seattle, which was as follows: 'Resolved, that the officers of the board should not invite or solicit donations to its funds from persons whose gains have been made by methods reprehensible or socially injurious.'"

"I am permitted today to make respecting this the following statement: The principle for which we contend was not voted down at Seattle; the board simply declined to take action upon it."

Uniform mining laws for all mining States and the Department of Mines and Mining with a representative in the President's Cabinet will be the principal matter acted on by the congress.

SWIMMING OF THE NILE.

George W. Post of San Francisco Goes Over Eleven Miles and Amazes the Arabs.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A letter from Cairo gives details of the swimming of the Nile from old Cairo to Basus, 114 miles, by George W. Post, a San Francisco engineer now in charge of the Egyptian cotton mills at Cairo. He heard that the swimming of the river below the bridge was regarded as impossible, but he successfully swam the distance, accompanied part of the way by Joseph Desmet, a cotton-mill employee in a boat.

A strong wind was blowing, and the man in the boat found it impossible to keep pace with the swimmer. He kept in sight of Post, however, until near the end of the long swim. The Arabs were greatly amazed at the strength and endurance of the American swimmer.

BODIES NOT YET FOUND.

FUTILE SEARCH FOR REMAINS OF DEAD EXPLORERS.

Bodies of Animals and Other Gruesome Relics of Grindell Party Discovered, but Fate of Three Men Still a Mystery—Return of Searching Party.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] HERMOSILLO (Mex.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] E. P. Grindell and Fred Christy, who have been searching for the bodies of Thomas Grindell and party, arrived here last night, having found nine of the explorers' camps, the remains of Grindell's party with his saddle and bridle; also the remains of his pack mule with rifle and water bucket attached.

The correspondent of The Times at El Paso, Ariz., says Capt. Thomas Rynning, Sergeant William O'Neil and Private Stanford of the Arizona Rangers, Dr. F. J. Toussaint and J. S. Hoffman, constituting the party that left Guaymas, last ten days ago to search for the bodies of the three missing men of Grindell's expedition, have returned to Guaymas, unsuccessful. Hoffman, the only survivor of the Grindell party, guided Rynning to a point on the main land opposite Tiburon Island, where the expedition had started back into the interior. Several dead horses and as well as skeletons of dead horses and burros, but no trace of the three missing men, Grindell, Hoffman and O'Neil, Grindell's saddle and some of his relics were brought away. Several handprints were made on the island of Tiburon, where it was supposed the missing men might have found refuge.

GREAT JEWISH GATHERING.

Pathetic Scenes Witnessed in London at Memorial Services for Those Killed in Russia.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] LONDON, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pathetic scenes were witnessed tonight at a gathering of 10,000 Jews at the East End of London, in the great assembly hall at the Whitehall, where a mammoth service was held for the Jews recently killed in Russia.

The hall was draped in black, and the majority of those in the audience wore emblems of mourning. At the chanting of the fifth chapter of Lamentations, almost all present burst into tears and mournful wailing. Rabbi Schevach, in his sermon, made an eloquent and touching appeal to Christians to come to the help of the Jews, who he said, for two thousand years, had been persecuted and persecuted, and could hope for nothing unless the Christians, out of their justice and charity, endeavored to procure for them justice and freedom.

In conclusion, he suggested that all Jews go into deep mourning for a month, and to vote for the relief of their fellow-sufferers in Russia.

CARNEGIE'S GIFT TO JEWS. NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Andrew Carnegie has contributed $10,000 for the relief of the Jews in Russia. The gift was sent in a letter to the Jewish community of this city, in which Carnegie says: "I am only too glad to send you the enclosed as a contribution to the fund for the relief of your fellow-sufferers in Russia. The terrible crimes being committed there are such as might lead one to lose faith in humanity, had not the history of the past shown us scenes equally demonic. Do not be discouraged, however. Under the law of evolution, we must steadily, though slowly, march upward, and finally reach the true conception of the brotherhood of man."

MAYOR'S RIGHT TO VOTE. COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Quo-rando proceedings will be started in the District Court tomorrow against Mayor H. C. Hall by opposition members of the City Council to determine the right of the Mayor to vote in the City Council in case of a tie. The question arose over the application of a local druggist for liquor license. The Council stood four to four on the question. The Mayor claimed the right to vote, which was for the President Holden of the Council refused to let him vote, but next day the City Clerk handed a license on the ground that the Mayor's vote decided the tie. The Mayor claims the right to vote except in cases involving finances, resolutions or expenditures.

AMERICAN LEGATION RAISED. LONDON, Nov. 12.—The Tokyo correspondent of the Daily Telegraph sends the following: "It is still fully announced that the Japanese legation has been raised to an embassy. An important agreement has been concluded between the German Emperor and the Chinese Government of Shantung under which Kiaochow will be evacuated in January and Kiao and Kiaochow will be returned to the Japanese after the signing of the agreement."

RUSSIA'S THORNY PATH TO REAL FREEDOM.

Her Reformers Apparently Learned Little From History.

She Seems Determined to Pay the Heaviest Price for Her Education—The Various Groups Would Apparently Let the Country Drift Into Anarchy Rather Than Lift a Finger to Aid Witte.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

S. PETERSBURG, Nov. 12.—[By Atlantic Cable.] With each day's development it becomes more apparent that Russian reformers have learned little of the lessons of history and that Russia is destined like other countries before her, to travel a thorny path to freedom.

She seems determined to pay the heaviest price for her political education. This perhaps is not strange, considering that all the intelligent classes are engaged in a revolt against the old order of things, the Moderates for the moment clashing hands with the ultra-revolutionists to accomplish the downfall of the autocracy. The result is that all the reform elements are distracted and being convinced that the present is only a stop-gap government, until the Duma meets, they prefer not to jeopardize their own future by taking office in a government marked for sacrifice, yet they appreciate a few Count Witte, that the old order, which ruled so long at least until the revolution, the struggle for a new order, the new premier and jettison the whole reform programme. They admit that Count Witte is the only man in the present state of transition capable of coping with the court camarilla nevertheless they refuse to assist him to get a firm seat in the saddle.

The danger of reaction is hardly worth serious consideration, however. Even the discomfited advocates of the old regime realize that the Emperor's step is irrevocable, that he could not withdraw it if he would, and that any attempt simply to place him in the attitude of a usurper of the people's liberties would precipitate an immediate crisis in which he would be sure to lose the throne. Nevertheless, the failure of the reform elements to break with the Social Democrats and cooperate with Count Witte may prove disastrous, and encourage the extreme agitators, which would be apt to provoke a continuance of clashes, and in the end force the government to resort to extreme measures which, being interpreted as a return to the policy of repression, might precipitate uprisings.

Fortunately, something like a realization of these dangers is coming home to a small, but growing class of Liberals. For instance, Prince Eugene Troubetzkoy, who declined to accept the post of Minister of Education because the party with which he is affiliated is committed to a constituent assembly, in an open letter to the public advises the people to support the new government in its efforts to restore tranquility, and Dmitri Shipoff and M. Gutcheff, who also declined portfolios, have returned to Moscow with the intention of organizing a distinct party of Moderates to aid Count Witte.

The influential Storo has become the organ of "The party of order" and even the Russ, while endorsing the action of the zemstovists in refusing offices, thinks that they could, with propriety, select a committee to act in an advisory capacity with the government.

The retirement of Count Lamsdorff, Minister of Foreign Affairs when the Duma meets is certain, but he may continue in office until then. He is fitted neither by temperament or training to hold office in a ministry responsible to a Parliament in which he would have to reply to interpellations. M. J. Javolsky, Russian Minister at Copenhagen, enjoys great favor at court, and doubtless would be the Emperor's personal choice as successor.

The new policy of national education, which is one of the principal planks of Count Witte's platform, will be inaugurated by the transfer to the Ministry of Education of all the imperial educational institutions, which now are mostly under the protection of the Dowager Empress. Their endowment of $4,500 will thus be added to the national educational fund.

Father Gapon has taken advantage of the amnesty and is now on his way to St. Petersburg.

ASLEEP FOUR WEEKS.

Mrs. Curtis a Patient in the Toronto General Hospital, in a Strange Condition.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] OTTAWA (Ont.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Canadian physicians are intensely interested in the case of Mrs. Curtis. She is a patient in the Toronto General Hospital, and has been asleep for four weeks. Professor Allan Barnes has diagnosed the case as one of hysteria. The hands and limbs are plastic, and for an hour at a time will remain in one position. The eyes are always closed and the breathing is regular. Fluid nourishment is supplied by means of a stomach pump. The woman is English, aged twenty-five, and has a husband living in the States. She was affected last year with sunstroke. She recovered, but for the last two months would fall asleep sitting in a chair, and would have to be watched.

Prof. Barnes says she will emerge from the catleptic state. The case is a very rare one, and probably the first of its kind in Toronto. Physicians are watching the patient, and a number of clinics have been held for the benefit of the students. The patient was very low, but the nourishment is beginning to tell, and she is showing very slight signs of voluntary effort. The doctors expect to save her life.

HELD FAST BY ARCTIC ICE.

TWELVE WHALING VESSELS ARE STUCK IN THE NORTH.

Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Twelve whaling vessels, worth $500,000, besides their crews and 500 men, with two women, are frozen into the Arctic ice pack, and may never return. Their fate, too, will not be known until another summer. The vessels are the steamers Narwhal, Baluga, The Dasher, Herman, Alexander, Karluk, and others.

The new policy of national education, which is one of the principal planks of Count Witte's platform, will be inaugurated by the transfer to the Ministry of Education of all the imperial educational institutions, which now are mostly under the protection of the Dowager Empress. ## CONGRESS CONTESTS.

Lines Are Rapidly Being Drawn.

The President's Idea of Centralization Will Arouse Antagonism.

Annual Message is Said to Fairly Bristle With Recommendations.

Idea in Regard to the Trust is That of Federated Control.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The lines are rapidly being drawn for a contest, or series of contests, in the Fifty-ninth Congress over the extension of judicial power and its centralization in Washington.

It is inevitable that the President's idea of giving the national government more power, to be lodged in the hands of the President or his appointees, should arouse antagonism in the Senate and perhaps in the House and this antagonism must be overcome, if the reforms planned by the President are to be adopted. It will possibly be the last stand for States rights made in the country, should the President win.

The annual message of the President, which is now being written, is said to fairly bristle with recommendations righting by Federal power many things which are declared to be wrong. He is very vigorous. It is said in his treatment of the railroad rate question, and this is merely a rate is reasonable in comparison between the States and to enforce the rate.

President Roosevelt is expected to make recommendations bringing the private-car lines engaged in interstate commerce within the same restrictions. He will probably reserve his recommendations for a Federal item or charter for all corporations engaged in any business in more than one State. This is an extension of the same idea.

The President has placed himself on the broad plane that the United States, as a federation, should step in and control the great aggregations of capital, and that in many cases its control should be substituted for the separate and widely-varying control now attempted by the different States. If the claims put forth by the supporters of the administration, of promised aid from Democratic Senators, are to be believed, the railroad men have beaten before the bill to regulate them is drawn much less passed through the House of Representatives.

ELKINS LAW AND RAILROADS. ATTY-GEN. MOODY MAKES AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

Secretary Hitchcock Gives Out Directions to Pension Office Officials to Refuse Applications for Lists of Persons Drawing Pensions—White House Conference.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Attorney-General Moody today made a statement with regard to the petition which was filed by his direction tomorrow in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Wisconsin, brought under the Elkins law to test the legality of certain commissions paid by railroads (after the receipt of the published rates) to a private car transit company controlled by stockholders of the corporation shipping freight in those cars over the railroad lines.

This case arises out of facts which have been investigated by the Interstate Commerce Commission and also by private interests adversely affected. It appears that some of the principal stockholders of the Pabst Brewing Company organized and own the Milwaukee Refrigerator Transit Company, a corporation operating private cars.

PENSION LISTS HEREAFTER. [BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Secretary Hitchcock has given directions to the officials of the Pension Office to hereafter refuse applications for lists of persons drawing pensions from the government, on the ground that the practice may lead to abuse. The order grew out of reports affecting the alleged misuse of such lists in the recent campaign in Ohio.

To the latter corporation the control of the shipments of the Pabst Company was given by an agreement entered into between the two corporations. The various railroads mentioned as defendants, while receiving as freight money

ORD'S CLAIM TO WEALTH.

He Will Push for Some of King George's Money.

The Holiday Family of California Interested.

Romance of an Employee of Western Union.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James L. Ord, of Chicago, great-grandson of King George IV, of England and Mrs. Maria Fitzherbert and heir to a portion of a fortune estimated at $25,000,000, or $125,000,000, the validity of whose title was revealed by the opening of records in Court Bank, London, last Friday, will push his claim to his portion of the inheritance. The marriage having been morganatic, there will, of course, be no claims to title, but Ord intends to secure his portion of the monarch's legacy.

It is probable that he will go to the East to consult with attorneys in regard to pressing his claims, presumably in conjunction with the other descendants of the royal family. The name of James Ord, it is estimated, that there are about thirty of the descendants scattered about America at the present time.

The Ord family have been known in America for a century, and there are several now living in the United States. Descended from James Ord, perhaps the most romantic career in the history of the family is that of James J. Ord, lieutenant in the United States Army, who fell in Duffield's attack on the eastern heights of the battle of Santiago. Had the law of primogeniture been followed the young man would undoubtedly have been wearing the crown of England, instead of yielding his life in the thick of battle.

It is a point of record that it was against Spain, the traditional enemy of England since the days of Philip II, that he fought. He had been in the service a month, being one of the West Point cadets, pushed forward by the exigencies of the war and the sudden demand for officers created. The Ords, from the beginning, had been in the American army. James Ord, himself, a son of George IV, was prominent in the American side in the War of 1812, although it was alleged that he was urged to enter in the American army by British spies in order to invalidate any claims he might later make to the crown.

On the ground of treason, his son, Maj.-Gen. E. O. C. Ord, served in the Union Army during the Civil War. He was a member of the American side in the War of 1812, although it was alleged that he was urged to enter in the American army by British spies in order to invalidate any claims he might later make to the crown.

OFFICIAL UKASE.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.) ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 12.—An official communication issued this morning recalls the fact that the imperial ukase of December 25 last, established a basis for the gradual renovation of the civil life of Russian subjects and points out that the measures adopted in pursuance of that ukase affected equally the Polish people. The ukase says:

"Regarding the painful lessons of the past, the politicians who are directing the national movement in the Kingdom of Poland are making attempts as dangerous for the Polish population as they are insolent toward Russia, to bring about the separation of the empire. Rejecting the idea of working in common with the Russian people in the domain of the law, they are demanding in a series of revolutionary meetings the complete autonomy of Poland with a special constitutional Diet, thereby aiming at the restoration of the Kingdom of Poland."

"The government will not tolerate attacks on the integrity of the empire, on the basis of acts of violence. It declares in a decisive manner that as long as the troubles in the Vistula districts continue, and as long as that part of the population adhering to political agitators continues its present way, these districts shall receive none of the benefits resulting from the manifesto of August 18 and October 30, 1905."

"There could obviously be no question of realizing special principles in a country in a revolt. Therefore, for the restoration of order all the districts of the Vistula are temporarily declared to be in a state of war."

"The future of the Polish people thus depends upon themselves. The government having a desire to continue these safeguarding the integrity and national rights of the Polish people extended by recent legislative acts, expects the people to recover from the present intoxication which has come over the Kingdom of Poland, the population of which has become a prey to the agitators, while at the same time, it is putting the people on guard against entering a dangerous path which unfortunately they have not for the first time trod."

HELEN GOULD GIVES BRITISH TARS A RIDE.

Two Hundred From the Squadron of Prince Louis Attend Church Service and Afterward Go Out in Automobiles and Good Nature.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sailors of the British navy today had their first opportunity of meeting Miss Helen Gould, of whom they had heard so much in every port they had met their American cousins.

Two hundred men from the squadron of Prince Louis of Battenberg attended services at the Naval branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, in Sands street, Brooklyn, early this morning. Miss Gould, who was in the city, heard her read a chapter from the Bible, shook hands with her, and saw her assist in the distribution of refreshments.

The big bridge interested them greatly, and a near view of the skyscrapers brought forth loud remarks. There was an occasional good-natured hail from the street, which was answered just as good-naturedly, and it was a general air of hospitality everywhere. Miss Gould wore two tiny flags entwined in her corsage, and her hair was elaborately decorated. The hall was hung with the national colors and the British flag.

After the opening prayer, Miss Gould read one of the Psalms, and Rev. Dr. John F. Carson delivered a short sermon on the subject of "The Navy and the People." The service was concluded by a collection for the sailors' fund, and afterward there came the refreshments.

Each seaman has received an invitation to make the Young Men's Christian Association his headquarters ashore, and all are specially invited to this afternoon, but to them Brooklyn might have been Chicago and Sands street a thoroughfare in an eastern city.

Some of the men had undergone trying experiences in attempting to visit the city, and they talked, there was a shout of joy, therefore, when the sailors' fund was distributed. The hall was hung with the national colors and the British flag.

ROOSEVELT CHAIR FOR BERLIN UNIVERSITY.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Announcement was made today that the trustees of Columbia University, New York, the sum of $50,000, to endow the Roosevelt chair in the history of the American people and institutions in the University of Berlin in accordance with a plan approved by the German Emperor, who received President Butler in audience at Wilhelmshoehe in August last. Incumbents of the professorship will be appointed by the Prussian Minister of Education, and the University of Berlin in the winter of 1906-7, and will give instructions in American constitutional history.

In making the announcement, President Butler of Columbia said in behalf of the trustees: "Mr. Speyer's gift seems to us both striking in its originality and splendid in its possibilities. We are not without hope that before long Columbia University will be put in a position to make similar arrangements with the University of Paris and with an English university, possibly the University of London."

James Speyer, D. D., LL.D., Hungarian professor of political science and constitutional history in the University of Berlin, and it is expected that his appointment will be made by the Prussian Minister of Education. Prof. Speyer will enter upon his duties at the University of Berlin in the winter of 1906-7, and will give instructions in American constitutional history.

afford to spend as much as that, which shows again that charity pays.

"Who knows what the charities of the people of Massachusetts cost in a year? No early record of them is half complete. The bureau of statistics can only tabulate the alms which are doled before noon. It can tell us that 465 incorporated charitable societies spend $2,574,565 and that the cities and towns of the commonwealth spend $2,816,564.76 or a combined total of $5,391,130.11 which is expended in one year through organized charity. The State Statistician apparently reaches by a guess the sum of $4,175,473.19 as the figure of all individual and unorganized benefactions. The State, itself is also put down on the list for $1,363,512.

"By this reckoning the people of Massachusetts spend on charity $15,000,000 a year. That is as if every man, woman and child in the State gave a $1 bill once a year for charity, or as if every adult person gave nearly $12 from his or her yearly earnings. Massachusetts, however, has hardly more than one-third of the population of the Union. If the rest of the States should be judged by her the total expenditure of the nation would be more than $400,000,000 a year. Truly this is an astounding figure. Reduce it one-fourth for the sake of conservatism and the burden still would be a staggering one. If the United States spends $500,000,000 a year for the poor, it is spending for that purpose twice as much as the huge standing army of Germany costs."

UNIDENTIFIED BODY FOUND.

ANSWERS DESCRIPTION OF THE MISSING LAMONICA.

Badly Decomposed Remains Discovered by Chinese Ranch Hand Near Florence—Foul Play Suspected. Sheriff's Deputies Investigating. Believe Murder Has Been Committed.

Is the body of a man, as yet unidentified, found near Florence station yesterday afternoon, that of Frank Lamonica, the missing Italian fruit dealer?

In many particulars the remains bear resemblance to the missing man, and the discovery of the body may lead to the solution of the mystery which has surrounded Lamonica's disappearance, as detailed in Sunday's Times.

Deputy Sheriff Sepulveda and Yonkin were detailed by Sheriff White to investigate the case and they spent several hours on the scene last night, discovering nothing, however, which would lead to a positive identification of the remains. The body is badly decomposed, and has apparently lain exposed to the elements for the past three weeks, about the period of time since Lamonica was last heard from.

The corpse was discovered by Chang Sing, a Chinese employe on the Sunday ranch. It was lying flat on the ground, with arms outstretched. For a considerable distance around the grass had been worn down, apparently either by the trampling of several persons, or by the animal which had been feeding on the body.

The body was sent to Breese Bros. morgue where an inquest will be held today.

The description given by the police of the missing Italian fits that of the dead man. The body was found about three weeks ago with his wagon, intending to go into the Simi Valley for his regular trips. He never absented himself from his business here for a longer period than one week, and his failure to return has been the cause of great concern among his friends and business associates. The Italian Consul offered a reward of $200 for information of the missing man's whereabouts.

Lamonica always carried considerable money with him on his journeys into the country, and the fact that no money or papers of any kind was found on the body discovered Sunday, indicates robbery.

MANY JAPANESE COMING.

Employment Agencies in the Northern Coast Cities Getting Them Jobs at Rate of 600 a Month.

[San Francisco Chronicle.] According to a statement made by a Japanese clergyman at a late meeting of the congregational ministers of the city, there are about 60,000 of his countrymen at present located on the Pacific Coast, and he expects that the number will be increased by the coming of many more.

Many of the newcomers are employed on the railroads and as servants in households. Some of them, he says, have made large sums of money in farming, and others have prospered greatly in other industries. The presumption is, of course, not unfair that the major part of the money sent westward by the Japanese is derived from the labor of the newcomers.

A Cleveland writer who has been studying the question of oriental immigration on the Pacific Coast reports, according to a Tacoma dispatch, that the Japanese employment agencies in the north are furnishing places for their own race at the rate of 600 per month. He says that the employment of the newcomers on the railroads and in the mines in Oregon. This seems to indicate that the immigration of these people is now largely through the northern ports, since the beginning of the anti-oriental agitation in the States. Evidently they do not encounter the same opposition in Oregon and Washington; but it is not improbable that those who enter the country through those states will ultimately find their way into California, as the more attractive field for their employment, and become again, later on, available for the labor of the State.

Good Advice from Grover.

Mr. Cleveland's letter declining membership on the board of directors of the Thomas B. Reed Memorial Association is in an excellent key and his position is excellently taken. In it he strikes just at the time and in the manner of one who knows the matter and with which one is not expected to have anything to do. The suggestion that the association should be organized in the name of the Reed family is a half million of this country's money, and it is not likely that it will be raised for charity.

It took about $50,000 to build the Reed house, and it cost the town of $400,000 to build the Reed house. The Reed family is a poor family, and it is not likely that it will be raised for charity.

THIS YEAR'S APPLE CROP.

It Will be Small Enough to Insure Good Prices.

Shifting of the Apple Center to the Middle West.

Old-fashioned Varieties Favorites in New England.

BY ABNER BALKAM.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Apples are apples this year. The crop of 1904 was a record one, but the crop of this year is below the average.

This is bad for the consumers. It is not so bad for the growers as it is for the whole, for the crop is by no means a failure, and the smaller crop will be offset by higher prices, so that the net money return will not fall far below last year's. In some sections, however, the crop will be short enough to cause a shortage of money. In those sections where the crop is large the high prices will cause big returns.

There has been a great revolution in the business of raising apples within the last twenty-five years. In the seventies New York easily held the record for apple production over all the other States. It still produces the greatest variety of apples, and perhaps a greater percentage of high grade fruit, but it is outclassed in quantity by Missouri at least. Its apple crop ranking alongside its milk and chicken crops while Michigan has crawled well up toward the top as an apple producing State.

The writer called at the fruit department of one of the great corporations that deal in food supplies in New York a day or two ago, and was surprised when the manager said that his concern preferred foreign native apples, preferring, for example, both because of their better flavor and their more satisfactory keeping qualities. A little questioning brought out the astonishing information that the apples he was pleased to term "foreign" raised in Oregon. In New York City, it appeared the word "foreign" meant designate only the product of New York B. & C. and adjoining commonwealths. Everything west of the Alleghenies is "foreign."

When raised east of the Connecticut River they are termed native or "foreign," but "New England" apples, though a few or none of them find their way to New York. Few apples are raised South of Oregon.

The apples which reach New York from Oregon are mostly Spitzenbergs and Newtown Pippins. They are not shipped in barrels, as practically all apples formerly were, but in boxes of an outside measurement of 23x12x12 inches.

The apples are carefully wrapped in tissue paper and packed in boxes. Each box is marked on the outside with the number of apples it contains. Boxes hold from 70 to 120 apples, and such fruit is retailed by the dozen at varying prices, based on the size, to New Yorkers who have the money to spend. Such apples are often more costly to such consumers than apples of the same size, but they are more reliable.

It is certain, according to the manager already quoted, that Oregon apples will bring higher prices than apples in New York, and this condition is by no means a new one, having often obtained within the past few years.

One of the reasons why Spitzenbergs and Newtown Pippins are favorites with the fancy New York trade is furnished by the fact that they are remarkably uniform in size, thus lending themselves readily to satisfactory grading.

NEW ENGLAND RAISES ITS OWN APPLES.

So much has been said in print of late about Western apples that the public west of the Hudson River has almost forgotten the New England States as apple producers at all. This condition is by no means a new one, having often obtained within the past few years.

When the New England apple crop is not big enough to supply New England's demand for the fruit, importations are generally made from Nova Scotia, rarely from the West. It is expected that there will be considerable importations from Nova Scotia this year, the crop in the latter State being reported fully up to the average.

The Nova Scotia apples are smaller than most apples grown in the States, but they are of unusually good flavor and remarkable keeping quality. Nova Scotia sends quantities of them to Liverpool every year; they are great favorites in England.

There is a fairly heavy duty on all apples brought into this country, but owing to the greater purchasing power of a dollar in Nova Scotia than in the United States they are offered at so much lower prices than when the crop is at all short in this country the returns from their sale here form no inconsiderable part of the Nova Scotian apple grower's annual income.

Nova Scotia apples rarely get as far west as New York, however.

REVOLUTIONARY APPLE TREES.

One of the big advantages possessed by the western apple growers lies in the fact that their trees are comparatively young, and therefore, comparatively free from worms and caterpillars, whose ravages injure the fruit even when the trees themselves suffer no harm.

Some of the apple orchards in Western New York have fallen off, both in the quality and quantity of their yield, because of the age of the trees. According to a fruit dealer from Newport, R. I., however, there is no excuse for poor apples, or, he says, small crops, just because the trees are old. He tells of a remarkable little orchard owned by Henry Heddy of Portsmouth, R. I., the yield of which proves the assertion.

The trees making up this orchard are of great age, nobody knows just how old, but certainly from the evi-

An arrangement by Cottrell and Montrose does it so that Mr. Montrose will write all the incidental music for the road productions of "The Imperial Highway" and "In South Carolina."

BREVITIES.

Times' "Liner" Advertisers.—Important change in rate for Sunday classified advertising. Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1933, and thereafter, the rate for "Liners" will be 14 cents per word for each insertion; minimum charge, 50 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of the Times, which averages over 65,000 copies. (When the 1-cent per word rate was established in 1922, the Times Sunday circulation was only 14,000 copies. The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.)

The San Francisco office of the Los Angeles Times is in room 41, Chronicle building, Telephone Main 1472. Subscriptions and advertising orders, visitors will find copies of the Times on file, and are welcome to call and read them.

CORBIN SAYS WE'LL PROFIT.

SAN FRANCISCO SEES INVESTORS TURN SOUTHWARD.

Election Bitter Disappointment to Stalwart Business Men. While the Labor-union Element Rejoices Greatly—Wild Tale of Schmitz's Future Ambitions.

William Corbin, the San Franciscan who energetically showed up the Examiner and its rotten politics on several occasions, is down from the North. Yesterday he spent in looking at business property along the ocean front, in the interest of northern clients. In the evening he chatted with friends and talked gossip at the Westminister Hotel. Today he will go back to San Francisco.

"Every cloud has its silver lining," said Corbin last evening. "And the silver lining to San Francisco's election cloud is turned toward Los Angeles. In fact it is turning southward already. There are indications that Los Angeles investments have been made at the expense of San Francisco for some time. If not, what does this inexplicable growth in every direction mean? Why this stretching of the city lines both toward the mountains and the sea? We think that in the north we have the best natural harbor, but now they are going in to improve the harbor facilities of Southern California. 'Business men are so blue that they want to move out of San Francisco and forget the town. Yet, in speaking in that way, I am not a pessimist, but I merely state a sort of general trend in public sentiment as it appears there today.'

"The poorer class of workmen—men who are bound to by the unions—feel greatly rejoiced over Schmitz's election. They have been duped so often that they are stupid into half believing the poor stories that are told to them. They believe that he triumphed and Schmitz is some kind of great moral victory for the 'common people' and that they will all be bettered in the end."

"The better and more intelligent class are apprehensive, because they are the result of union domination. They have had no taste of it, and they had rather lose business now than run the risk of losing greater amounts in the days that are to come. Investments, especially certain large ones, have been held off for waiting for the announcement of these election results. I am certain that the results will cause the change of a large amount of money, and building operations may be suspended. The effect of this election may have a deleterious effect on our great bond sale, thus causing the indefinite postponement of our public constructions of sewers, hospitals and city sanitation."

One of these, a union stand-by, has it that Schmitz will be strongly boosted into yet another term as San Francisco Mayor. That during the four years to come, labor-union political organization will be perfected all over the city of San Francisco. The term he may be given a mighty shove as the union candidate for Governor.

MINES AND MINING.

Angelenos Developing Claims in Jawbone Canyon—Exploration Company Formed.

The Charter Members' Association of Los Angeles recently started development work on five claims near Jawbone Canyon, Kern county, just north of Mojave. They commenced to tunnel and have struck a vein of rich ore at forty-two feet from the starting point. The vein is twenty-four feet wide and shows immense quantities of rich ore, copper and silver, with the indication of gold near the surface. This strike was made much sooner than had been expected.

The Owens River conduit may also cross these mines and be of great help in the improvements. The camps of the surveyors and miners are now in some good developments may be expected in the near future.

TO DEVELOP MINES.
The American Mines and Exploration Company has just been incorporated in Arizona with a capitalization of $200,000, and headquarters at 402 Brady building, for the purpose of acquiring and developing mines. The incorporators and officers are Robert D. Grant, P. Wiseman and Joseph A. Lewis.

Mr. Grant, who is president of the company, was formerly secretary and general manager of the Parrot Silver and Copper Company of Butte, one of the big properties taken over by the Amalgamated, in which transaction Mr. Grant was active. He has since been a resident of Salt Lake and has mining interests in Utah and Montana. Mr. Lewis is also a Montana man, having been in the real estate business in Butte, recently moving to Los Angeles. Mr. Wiseman was for years with the Colorado Smelter and Mining Company, one of the Butte properties taken over by the Amalgamated, and now known as the Trenton. Since then he has been general manager of the Shannon Copper Company at Clifton, Ariz., developing the mines and installing the 600-ton smelter.

PROSPECTOR'S RETURNS.
H. K. Wheeler of this city will leave this week on a trip overland to Death Valley and the Panamint districts and from there may go on to Bullfrog and Goldfield. Mr. Wheeler and a syndicate of Los Angeles recently sent an expedition to prospect this region and returns show a find, the assays from which show as high as $775.
